Short description

My high school degree in Virtual Design at Trento's art school allowed me explore various art forms and techniques. I continued my art studies at Venice University, where I obtained a BA in Arts and Theatre (IUAV) that covered a wide range of artistic disciplines from photography to cinema. After this 3-year cycle I decided to focus on scenography and took on a master's degree in Digital Exhibit (IUAV) which allowed me to investigate the study of space and make use of my digital competencies. Over the course of my education and training I have never ceased to put my problem solving skills at use: I have worked with complex materials including iron, cement, wood and textile and with varying dimensions, from small delicate objects to 3m installations.
