

Archeoparc

Description

The Archeoparc in Schnalstal (Val Senales) is an interactive archaeological museum that replicates the habitat and lifestyle of the “ice man” and his fellow inhabitants from 5,300 years ago. In the museum’s outdoor area, visitors can tour the Neolithic huts reconstructed to scale. Children and adults are invited to "jump into" the Neolithic lifestyle, trying activities such as breadmaking, archery, working with clay or leather, and much more.
