

Castello di Brunico

Descrizione

Il Castello di Brunico si erge in bella vista su di una collina sovrastante la città. È stato edificato nel 1250 dal Principe Vescovo di Bressanone Bruno von Kirchberg. A seconda del cambio di destinazione del castello, si sono succedute innumerevoli ristrutturazioni ed estensioni. Un esteso risanamento è stato effettuato alla fine del XIX° secolo. Nel 2004 il maniero medievale è stato acquistato dalla Fondazione Cassa di Risparmio e il suo uso è stato concesso alla città di Brunico. Essa, quindi, l'ha offerto all'alpinista estremo Reinhold Messner che, nel luglio del 2011, vi ha inaugurato il proprio Messner Mountain Museum.
